SERPENTS IN FEMALE FORM.

Two Young Girls Murder Their Patrons for Money.

New York, June 19.—A Washington special says: Details of the most unprecedented attempt at a double murder by two young girls, the eldest only 18 and the second hardly in her teens, have been received from Fredericksburg, Va.

The victims were Mr. W. E. S. Waller, an old gentleman 55 years of age, and his sister, Miss Jane Waller. Mary and Jennie (Grosche), were the assassins. The dispatch says that Mr. and Mrs. Waller resided in a stately old mansion on a farm situated about 25 miles from Fredericksburg. The estate was the property of the Waller family, and the house somewhat remote from those of the neighbors. Here the couple had lived together for four years, managing their farm and depending solely for assistance about the house on the two young girls. They had been reared by the Waller family, a matter which, in the eyes of Mr. Waller, was sufficient to guarantee their honesty.

Last Friday Mr. Waller received quite a sum of money, which he kept in his room, and the girls were aware of this fact. They waited until about 11 o'clock that night, when feeling sure that Mr. and Mrs. Waller were asleep, they quietly armed themselves with stout clubs and descended to the old gentleman's apartment. As they entered the room Mr. Waller awoke, and, seeing who it was, demanded angrily what they wanted. Without waiting to reply the girls rushed at him. Though aged, Mr. Waller was quite an active man, and, springing from his bed, he seized the elder and would have disarmed her had not the other girl hit him over the head with her club and knocked him senseless to the floor. Not content with this, she belabored his senseless form with blows until, believing that life was extinct, they left him to search for Miss Waller. Rushing into the old lady's room, they dragged her from her bed, and, with a single blow from a club laid her senseless; then they beat her about the head until the blood gushed forth in streams, and all vestige of her features were literally beaten out of recognition. Finally, satisfied that both of their victims were dead, the girls secured about $50 in money and fled.

Several hours later a colored boy, one of the tenants on the farm, while passing the mansion, observed that the door was open and stopped to investigate. On entering the house he discovered the senseless and bleeding forms of Mr. and Mrs. Waller on the floor and immediately rushed to give the alarm. By 4 o'clock in the morning the whole neighborhood was aroused and hundreds of people crowded to the house to learn the particulars of the affair and to offer their assistance in capturing the assassins. With the arrival of a physician Mr. Waller was restored to consciousness, and though in a very precarious condition, was able to describe the occurrence of the night. Parties were instantly organized and the search for the two girls was undertaken with ardor. Miss Waller can not remember the Waller family is one of the most prominent in the State.

R. M. T. Hunter has been confirmed by the Senate as Collector of the Port of Tappahannock, Va. The office is a sinecure, and the fees and perquisites amount to $250 per annum. The career of Mr. Hunter vividly illustrates the mutations of fortune and the decrees of fate. He is now old and poor. In his early manhood he was chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the United States House of Representatives, where a wink or a nod might have made him vastly rich. Afterward, and subsequently a Senator in Congress, in which body he was at the head of the Finance Committee, in which position, had he been a real man, he could have made himself a millionaire. Upon economic questions, and questions appertaining to financial affairs and coinage and currency, he was regarded as the ablest man in the nation. He was Secretary of State of the Confederate Government, and after the days of Reconstruction he was elected Treasurer of Virginia, but gave place to one of Mahone's henchmen. He came within a few votes of being chosen to the United States Senate by the Legislature in 1876. He and Jefferson Davis, Lyman Trumbull and Simon Cameron are the only survivors of the Senate of 1860. And now in his old age, after such a long career, and after filling so many exalted stations by honor and ability, he is driven by poverty to accept an office among the most insignificant at the President's disposal.—Times.

Canon Farrar's New Book.

A few weeks ago, when Canon Farrar was in this country, tens of thousands of people paid as much as one dollar each to hear a single lecture delivered by him, and were pleased with what they got for their money. Several of the most important of these lectures and addresses with other papers are now published by John B. Alden, of New York, and now can be had in a very handsome cloth-bound volume, for the price of 40 cents. Some of the lectures are also published separately in his Library, in which form the lecture on Daniel sells for 3 cents; on Temperance, 2 cents; on Ideals of Nations, 2 cents; Thoughts on America, 3 cents. The millions of intelligent people who admire Canon Farrar and who were not able to hear him lecture, will be delighted to find his brilliant, scholarly and eloquent thoughts placed in this handsome form within their reach. The publisher's illustrated catalogue, 132 pages, is sent to any address on receipt of 4 cents; or condensed catalogue free. JOHN B. ALDEN, Publisher, 393 Pearl St., New York.

We take this method of extending our sincere thanks to our many friends and customers, for the liberal patronage bestowed upon us for the past 25 years. We have, since our establishment in this city in 1860, tried our utmost to gain the confidence of the people, by giving them for LESS MONEY than they could be bought elsewhere, and by making plain and true statements and representations in offering these goods.

Good, Honest, Serviceable Goods

It needs no explanation from us to show how our goods and prices have been appreciated. Our business has continually improved; our customers have grown more, year by year, consequently we have been forced to carry a from time to time, until we now carry the largest and best selected stock of

are packed with the above mentioned goods. We carry no shoddy or trashy goods, but sell you good, durable goods, at same prices that you pay for trashy goods. We have often been asked, "Why don't you handle common goods?" Our answer is invariably that we find it pays to handle nothing but first-class goods, and when people want good goods they come to us, and if they try them once they never fail to pass them again; while on the other hand should we sell a customer an inferior article we would not be very apt to see him again. It is our aim to gain customers and retain them. Our calculation is to sell often at a small margin, which is more profitable than selling a customer once at large margin and not selling him again.

We offer this month, (June) only,

GREAT BARGAINS,

our entire stock at such Low Prices that you will be astonished.

We will not endeavor to quote prices for our competitors to copy after, but ask you to call at our Peck's Bad Boy.

Peck's Son.

"Ah," said the grocer, as the bad boy was seen on the sidewalk, picking one large strawberry out of each box in a crate, and transferring them to a cavity in his face, "I have caught you at it. Don't you know any better than to pick the largest berries out of the boxes? You will pick them if they buy berries and find the best ones are gone."

"Well, I was just experimenting," said the boy, as he raised a box up and looked under it, to see if the bottom was raised. "I have been figuring that you can take off the first layer of berries, from all the boxes, and put them in new boxes, and make twenty per cent more on you strawberry berries."

"You can't teach me anything about economizing in strawberries," said the grocer, "I have been doing this all the season, and have made over sixty dollars on berries saved."

"Ah, ha, so I thought," said the bad boy, as he took out his memorandum book and proceeded to write. "The grand jury is investigating all the farmers, and I thought I would find out a little something that would be interesting, so I was called a witness. I would be prepared. Of course I may not be called as a witness, but I am on the grand jury, and very likely will be talking over such things at home, and I would be natural for me to mention the strawberry matter, though if you were indicted, and had to go to the penitentiary, we should always feel badly."

"O, come in the store, and have some bananas, or something," said the grocer, "and don't say anything about the strawberries. We are neighbors, and don't want to have any hard feelings. I have always admired you for a nice, honest boy, and I would hurt my feelings, because you are so testy against me. So your pa has got back, eh? By-the-way, you said once that you would tell me about something that happened to your pa in California. What was it?"

"Yes, I got back, the day of the riots and shooting, he took to the woods, and was gone two days, and when he came back he had the rheumatism, and he has been going around with a substance on his back, and a money for an insurance man who was injured and thrown out of a job by the strikes and riots, and he has collected enough to last us all winter. O, pa catches on. You might think pa had no head, to look at him, but he looks out for number one. As for pa's California experiences, there were so many I don't know which one to tell. But you a dill to see pa at the ostridge farm. You know they raise ostriches there the same as we raise hens here, and pick feathers often. Well, pa got up a party to go to the farm, a whole lot of ladies and men folks, and they drove out there in style. Pa was the boss of the party, and everything he said made you pay attention. The girls all wanted to set with pa in the wagon, he was so interesting, and I knew he was going to have a calamity pretty soon, cause he always does when he seems to feel the runnings. He looked out for number one, and he was about ostriches, and said he used to travel with a circus and menagerie, and he could teach a ostridge to eat out of his hand. The girls looked at pa and he would show them the power of mind over the feathered youngsters, when we got to the farm. There were about forty ostriches in a pen, and the ostridge cowboy charged fifty cents apiece to look at the birds. That like to broke pa up, and then he was mad because the men wouldn't let us go near the birds. The man said the birds were wild and dangerous, and would hurt folks if they got too near. Pa wanted to show off, so he told the men he was an ostridge farmer and used to travel with a circus and menagerie, and he could teach a ostridge to eat out of his hand. The girls looked at pa and he would show them the power of mind over the feathered youngsters, when we got to the farm. There were about forty ostriches in a pen, and the ostridge cowboy charged fifty cents apiece to look at the birds. That like to broke pa up, and then he was mad because the men wouldn't let us go near the birds. The man said the birds were wild and dangerous, and would hurt folks if they got too near. Pa wanted to show off, so he told the men he was an ostridge farmer and used to travel with a circus and menagerie, and he could teach a ostridge to eat out of his hand. An imposing statue of Daniel Webster was dedicated at Concord, N. H., on the 17th inst.

The House last week refused to consider the Tariff Bill at this session by a vote of 149 to 157.

Campbell county, the home of Col. Thos. L. Jones, has endorsed Hon. A. S. Berry for Governor.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and wife sailed for Europe last Saturday. They will return in the fall.

Col. Henry C. Dixon, of Henderson, is out as a candidate for Congress in this district. About the worst thing that can be said of Col. Dixon is that he was a member of the last Kentucky legislature.

The 13th annual celebration of the Knights of Honor at Louisville, June 30, will be participated in by 33 lodges and by delegates from 30 States and the District of Columbia, representing a membership of 154,687. There will be reduced hotel and transportation rates.

Dr. S. A. Richmond, the proprietor of "Samaritan Nervine," a well known patent medicine, shot and killed Col. J. W. Strong, manager of the St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald, last Saturday. Richmond walked to the door of the Herald office and shot Strong in the back of the neck and then deliberately shot himself in the head. Richmond was insane, having lost his mind last winter. Strong wrote him up as a fraud which brought on the trouble. The murderer is not expected to recover.

Hon. Henry Dixon is announced, by the Henderson Gleaner, and Hon. Polk Laffoon, by the Madisonville Times, for Congress. It is rumored also that Hon. Cromwell Adair and Hon. J. A. McKenzie will be candidates. Maj. Jo Hayslett has been announced for several weeks. It begins to look like there will be a field full of them, and as pretty a race as anyone could desire to see. May the best man win—we know who he is but won't give it away—and devil take the hindmost.—Owensboro Messenger.

The KENTUCKIAN lost nothing by taking a firm stand on the railroad question early in the fight and helping to win the contest, instead of dodging the issue until the battle was won. The people have endorsed us and spoken out with one voice for the measure we advocated. The KENTUCKIAN will always be found on one side or the other of every question that concerns the prosperity of Hopkinsville. In 1879 it advocated the Public Schools proposition and has never had cause to regret it. Principle and not policy actuates it in all such matters and it will never be found occupying a neutral position upon so important a question as that just voted upon.

The Superior Court Convention at Lebanon last week nominated Joseph Harbourn, of Henry, to succeed Judge Richards, of Louisville. Judge M. C. Sankey, of Lincoln, went into the convention with 118 instructed votes, within one vote of a majority, but six of his delegates sold out and brought about his defeat. The Louisville Commercial charges that $1,500 each was the price paid for four of these votes by the Harbourn side. The convention broke up in a row and Sel Miller, of Louisville, was knocked down by Henry Barker. The affair was a disgrace to the Democratic party. Sankey will abide by the result. It is said the tactics of both sides were the same and it will not do to stir up the matter on either side.

GROVER'S RECEPTION.

The Public Reception at the White House, the Largest of the Kind Ever Witnessed in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The public reception at the White House to-night was the largest of the kind ever witnessed there. Though it was not to begin until 9 o'clock, before 6 o'clock an immense crowd had gathered in the vicinity of the main doors, and when they were thrown open, a closely packed line of men, women and children extended from the main entrance down the carriage-way out of the north gate, and east on Pennsylvania avenue to Fifteenth street. There were fully 5,000 persons in line and at 10 o'clock the number had not perceptibly decreased. The President and Mrs. Cleveland were assisted by Mrs. Endicott, Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Vilas. Mrs. Cleveland wore her wedding dress of ivory satin, arranged in the same style as at the official reception Tuesday evening. Her ornaments consisted of a diamond necklace, the President's wedding gift, to which was attached a beautiful diamond pendant; and in her hair, which was tastefully arranged in Grecian coils, was a diamond star, or tiara of rare beauty and brilliancy. The floral decorations were similar to those of last Tuesday, and the general arrangements principally the same. The President and Mrs. Cleveland shook hands with all as the throng passed through the blue room and the bride had a bright smile for each one, and a kind word for those she recognized in the moving crowd. As the people left the mansion their conversation was of the beauty and grace of the President's bride.

Tanner Outdoors.

The most remarkable case of fasting on record is that just accomplished by a eccentric individual by the name of William Davies at Harrodsburg. The particulars are furnished by the Harrodsburg Democrat of last Friday: "Mr. Wm. Davies has completed his fast, making 40 days and 20 hours. The fast was ended Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. This fast is probably the most remarkable on record as the faster has kept on his feet during the entire time, and although losing much flesh he has never been prostrated. When about half through the fast the writer saw him hold out in one hand 29 pounds of weight, and on Thursday of the last week he had walked three miles fishing. He had eaten absolutely nothing, but during the latter part of the fast sucked at intervals an orange, spitting out the juice, or rinsed his mouth with vinegar. For whatever nourishment he might have absorbed on this account he fasted 20 hours longer than the 40 days. Immediately after the fast he began to take milk gradually, two tablespoonfuls an hour, but does not now feel any appetite. He says that fasting is a very easy business and thoroughly rids the system of indigestion in all forms."

PLEASANT HILL.

Ed. South KENTUCKIAN:

After a long lull I again seek the columns of your valuable paper to give its numerous readers a few items from the Pond river hills.

The late rains have wrought a wonderful improvement in the prospect of things, all growing crops are looking well. Most of the farmers have finished cutting wheat, and tobacco setting is about completed.

The season for brandaunes and moonlights has arrived and the lads and lasses are happy.

Milnes Emma and Eva Wicks and Jessie Meacham, students of the Kirkmansville High School, are spending their vacation at home.

The Mission Sabbath School at the "Elbert Henderson Seminary," is well attended. Its Superintendent, Mr. Ezra West, is a christian gentleman and an efficient officer. I would be pleased to have him come out and deliver a Sunday school address. This school was organized in 1881. Its first Superintendent was Mr. Elbert Henderson, who died a few years ago.

Divine service at Pleasant Hill church the 18th Sunday in each month, Rev. Van Lyon, pastor. He will preach at Shiloh school house at 2 o'clock p. m., Sunday next. After a period of 40 years the sale of ardent spirits has been discontinued at Fergusonsville. 11 inmates wish to gratify their thirst they will have to resort to other than legitimate means to obtain it.

Dr. Marshall Kennedy, our popular physician, is not better since he was taken sick. He has suffered intensely. Kind friends have done all they could to administer to his relief, yet he does not improve.

Mrs. Lofthouse, our obliging postmistress, deserves the thanks of all who get their mail through the Fruit Hill P. O. She is attentive to business and seldom makes a mistake.

Mr. Jno. W. Richardson, by special contract, has the Fergusonsville neighborhood mail in charge and distributes the same once a week at his house at Fergusonsville.

A singing class has been organized at the White Plains school house, which is well patronized by the young folks.

The Pond river Christian church, near Hunter & Wilson's store, is the finest church building in this portion of the county.

At present the country presents a beautiful appearance. Nature is dressed in her brightest, green fields of corn rustling and nodding in the breezes can be seen in all directions. The air is laden with the perfume of flowers and the gardens are yielding luscious vegetables fit for the gods. Success to the South KENTUCKIAN. ETAK.

Wives! Mothers! Daughters! BE YOUR OWN PHYSICIAN! A lady who for years suffered torments worse than death from Uterine Troubles, Prolapsus, Leucorrhoea, Suppressions, &c. so common among our Wives, Mothers and Daughters and had despaired of being cured, finally found remedies which completely cured her, after all else had failed. Any lady can use the remedies and cure herself, without being subjected to a medical examination. From gratitude she will send FREE receipts, Treatise and full directions served. Address (with stamp) Mrs. W. C. HOLMES, 658 Broadway, N. Y. (Name paper.)

CROFTON, KY.

Ed. South KENTUCKIAN:

A. B. Long and John W. Payne were the only candidates, we saw at Pleasant Grove picnic and their followers were many, for they frequently set up the red lemonade.

Mrs. R. H. Turpin returned home Friday after a two weeks' visit to friends at Edgfield Junction, Tenn.

Miss Annie Johnston and sister returned home from Nazareth Academy where they have been attending school for ten months.

Meacham McCord and Jas. Pollard had a little altercation Saturday night on their way to a moonlight picnic at Pleasant Grove. McCord fired one shot at Pollard with the following result—nobody hurt. The cause of the above can only be attributed to too much spirits frumment.

Each year this demon is advancing on us and will continue to do so until these lawless men who are now found stationed but a few steps from the dancing ground of every picnic, will get so bold that they will perch themselves upon the door steps of every church in the country and ask you to take a "shot" before you go in to hear that old dead head preach. Shall we lay supinely upon our backs and let this dreadful destroyer of morality and even of human life enter our homes as it has already done many? Gentle reader think of this and then ask yourself whose duty it is to report men who take whiskey to all of your social gatherings to sell to your sons regardless of law. If we allow such a thing to go on now what can we expect to derive from prohibition. The temperance club here seems to be a thing of the part.

Mr. Robt. Johnson, of your city, has been in our town for a few days probably looking after his interest.

Twenty-three Knights of Labor will be thrown out of the houses at Empire belonging to the company next week. We understand that the company says they will never work another Knight of Labor.

The recent rains have thrown farmers very much behind with their work, through this section of the county.

M. B. Brown, Sup't of Crofton Sunday School, has appointed a committee to make arrangements for a picnic for the children which shall be at no distant day. We are glad to see our worthy Superintendent take so much interest in the happiness of our little ones, for they have all been like old men since the organization of our Sunday School. Beck.
